

SmallPlaneValue.com

Launch checklist — email, Facebook, and beta promotion | Print date: July 2026

1. Do you need a separate Gmail?

Recommendation: You probably do not need another Gmail if you already ignore extra inboxes. Use one email address you actually check, with filters/labels for SmallPlaneValue.

Option	Best for	Downside
Namecheap free forwarding hello@smallplanevalue.com → your Gmail	Beta launch; professional contact on Facebook Page; no new inbox	Receive only (can't easily send as @yourdomain without more setup)
Namecheap Private Email (paid mailbox)	Send and receive as you@smallplanevalue.com ; looks official	~$1–2/mo per mailbox; can't use free forwarding on same domain at same time
New Gmail account	Complete separation from personal mail	Another inbox you may never check
Existing inbox + Gmail filter	Simplest; everything in one place	Mixes with personal mail unless filtered well

2. Namecheap email options (domain already there)

Option A — Free Email Forwarding (start here)

Included with domains on Namecheap DNS (BasicDNS / PremiumDNS / FreeDNS).

1. Log in at namecheap.com → Domain List → Manage (smallplanevalue.com)
2. Redirect Email → Add alias (e.g. hello) → forward to your main Gmail
3. Advanced DNS → Mail Settings → select Email Forwarding (MX records set automatically)
4. Test from a different email address (forwarding tests from the same destination often fail)

Note: Free forwarding is virtual — you receive at your domain address; it is not a full send/receive mailbox.

Docs: namecheap.com → Support → “How to set up Free Email Forwarding”

Option B — Private Email (upgrade later)

- Full mailbox at hello@smallplanevalue.com
- Send and receive; optional auto-forward to Gmail in webmail settings
- Choose this when you reply to pilots regularly as the brand

Quick pick for beta: Set up only `hello@smallplanevalue.com` first. Add `feedback@` later if you want a separate public address on the site — both can forward to the same Gmail.

3. Suggested alias names — which to create?

All of these are free forwarders on Namecheap (alias → your Gmail). You can add up to 100 on BasicDNS.

Alias	Use on	Recommendation
<code>hello@</code>	Facebook Page contact, footer, general “reach us”	Create this one first. Friendly, normal for a small product.
<code>feedback@</code>	Site footer, Feedback tab “email us too”, forum posts	Optional. Signals “tell us what’s wrong.” Same Gmail is fine.
<code>contact@</code>	Formal listings, press, partners	Skip for now — redundant with <code>hello@</code> .
<code>info@</code>	Generic business contact	Skip — feels corporate for a beta side project.
<code>support@</code>	Paid product / ticket system later	Wait until you charge and need support workflow.

Minimum setup: one alias (`hello`). Nice-to-have: `hello` + `feedback` , both → same Gmail, two Gmail filters (or one filter for the whole domain).

4. Gmail filter setup (step-by-step)

Goal: mail forwarded from Namecheap lands in your main Gmail but is easy to find — labeled SmallPlaneValue, not buried in personal mail.

Filter A — catch everything from your domain (recommended)

1. Open Gmail in a browser → click the search box → click the filter icon (sliders) on the right.
2. In To, enter: `@smallplanevalue.com`
This matches any forwarded alias (`hello@`, `feedback@`, etc.).
3. Click Create filter (bottom right).
4. Check: Apply the label → New label → name it `SmallPlaneValue`.
5. Optional but useful: check Star it during beta so you notice pilot mail quickly.
6. Do not check “Skip the Inbox” during beta — you want these visible.
7. Click Create filter.

Filter B — separate feedback@ (only if you created that alias)

1. New filter → To: `feedback@smallplanevalue.com`

2. Apply label: `SmallPlaneValue/Feedback` (nested label under SmallPlaneValue)
3. Star it (optional)

Filter C — catch replies when you post on BeechTalk / FB

People may reply to your personal email instead of hello@. Optional filter:

1. Has the words: `smallplanevalue` OR `"small plane value"`
2. Label: `SmallPlaneValue` (same label as above)

Gmail sidebar & phone

- In Gmail left sidebar, click the label SmallPlaneValue to see only project mail.
- On iPhone/Android Gmail app: the label appears under Labels; you can enable notifications for that label only (Settings → your account → Labels → SmallPlaneValue → Notify).

Replying as hello@smallplanevalue.com

Free Namecheap forwarding is receive-only. Replies will come from your personal Gmail address unless you upgrade to Namecheap Private Email or configure Gmail “Send mail as” with SMTP. For beta, replying from personal Gmail with a signature line (“SmallPlaneValue.com”) is fine.

5. Facebook Page — yes, create one

- Use a Page, not your personal profile, for the project link
- Post in BeechTalk and FB groups as yourself: “I built this — feedback welcome”
- Page needs: name, short description, link to smallplanevalue.com, contact email (`hello@...`)
- Instagram can link to the same Meta Page later (Business Suite)

6. Where to promote (free beta)

Channel	How
BeechTalk	Use “Copy for BeechTalk / FB” on the site Feedback tab; post in relevant forums
Facebook groups	Bonanza, Cirrus, type-club groups — same copied blurb + link
X (Twitter)	Share button on Feedback tab (pre-filled tweet)
Facebook Page	Share button; pin a “free beta — we want feedback” post
Instagram	No web share button — copy link/blurb into caption or bio

7. What the site does today (beta)

- Unlimited free valuations — no monthly limit or access codes during feedback phase
- Feedback tab — in-app comments (also stored in Supabase)
- Report a sale — paste BeechTalk sold posts → auto-fill → submit (local browser for now)
- Valuation tab — paste listings → auto-fill fields

When ready to charge: set `VALUATION_LIMITS_ENABLED = true` in server code and redeploy.

8. Print checklist — do these in order

- ☐ Namecheap: `hello@smallplanevalue.com` → your main Gmail
- ☐ Optional Namecheap: `feedback@` → same Gmail
- ☐ Gmail: Filter A (To: `@smallplanevalue.com`) → label SmallPlaneValue
- ☐ Gmail: enable label notifications on phone (optional)
- ☐ Create Facebook Page; add website + contact email
- ☐ Post on BeechTalk + 2–3 FB groups (use site copy button)
- ☐ Optional: X account or post from personal account with project link
- ☐ Ask for Feedback tab responses (“too high / too low / about right”)
- ☐ Log real sales on Report a sale tab when you see sold threads

9. Sample post (BeechTalk / FB groups)

Free GA aircraft valuations at smallplanevalue.com — honest asking ranges and fair-market estimates, no fabricated sale prices. Paste a listing or enter your aircraft. Looking for feedback from pilots — especially BeechTalk and type-club folks. Try it and tell us what we got right or wrong.
